Embrace

He counts down the minutes.

They tick away without sound when the music plays around them.

He waits. Even if he wants to, he can't speed up time.

More seconds tick away.

He longs to hold him, to feels him close.

One song ends and another begins.

He plays with his microphone stand, twisting it around, waiting for his cue.

Minutes drag on forever.

His hands tighten around it, desperate to reach out when he comes near.

The last song ends.

He walks over to pull him near, embracing him into a tight hug. Feeling his warmth once again.

Finally.
